

STRUCTURAL MEMBER

ABSTRACT

A structural member for a motor vehicle, that is selectively positioned inside of a tubular frame rail that operatively deforms to absorb and dissipate energy in the event of a collision. The structural member having a tubular body with strengthening ribs located inside of the tubular body.

0041386-02801
FOR 280" 98E F4660